The Very Reverend Joseph A. Sellinger, S.J. and the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society of Loyola College will sponsor the Second Annual President's Cup Prize Debate on Thursday evening, December 9, at 8:15 p.m.

This event will consist of a formal debate on the national collegiate debate topic dealing with the crime problem in the United States.

The participants are Tom Doonan, Dick Fleming, John Delaney, and Henry Bogdan. Bob Diegelman will be chairman.

A number of distinguished guests have been invited. The panel of judges include Mr. Francis X. Gallagher and Judge James Parrott. The public is cordially invited.

Bob Mitchell and Leo McManus are the co-chairmen of the tournament.

Loyola debaters participated in the Eighteenth Annual Georgetown University Debate Tournament during the Thanksgiving holidays.

John Delaney, Henry Bogdan, Tom Doonan, and Dick Fleming participated in this tourney which attracted over one-hundred fifty debate teams from every state in the nation.

The results of this tournament are not yet available.

On the weekend of November 20, the Debate Society, represented by Bob Mitchell, Henry Bogdan, Tom Doonan, and Dick Fleming, posted a 7-9 record in a tournament at the University of Pennsylvania.

IRC Presents Speaker; Subject: African Affairs

Painting, Other Art Objects Gift from Mr. Horace Mayer

By John Kelly

The Very Reverend Joseph A. Sellinger, S.J., President of Loyola College, announced that the college has received a gift of "objets d'art" valued in excess of $25,000 from Mr. Horace Mayer of Englewood, N. J.

The gift was obtained through the efforts of Mr. James St. L. O'Toole, Loyola College Class of 1917; Mr. O'Toole is owner of O'Toole Art Gallery, New York City, with offices in Paris and Venice.

Included among the items comprising this latest gift are ten original paintings by Ruggero Focardi. Another gift is a painting by Antonio Rizzi, a native of Cremona, Italy, bearing the title "House Building."

Other items of interest are: a 17th century Italian carved frame; an early 19th century Flemish hand wrought-iron candlestand; a pair of carved marble garden benches; and a round cast stone jardiniere in Gothic motif.

Loyola College Glee Club Welcomes Student Talent

By Wayne Schmitt

The Loyola College Glee Club will hold its first meeting on December 1 in L-101 at 12 noon.

At this organizational meeting, members will be asked to fill out a questionnaire; this is in order to set the times and dates for future rehearsals. Comments and suggestions will also be welcomed. Leadership opportunities, such as accompanists, officers, music librarians, and student coaches will be available to those interested and qualified.

Mr. Sydney Wechsler will be the director of the club, while Fr. McManamin and Mr. Horak will serve as moderators.

All are invited, even those with no vocal talent. The only requirement for a student is that he enjoy singing. Members of small vocal groups on campus are likewise invited to join the Glee Club.

So far, the only event planned by the club is a combined program with the Concert Choir of Notre Dame College.

Any student who has completed one year of college is eligible to borrow, without collateral, up to $1000 per year and $5000. total. The student begins repayment five months after graduation in payments of $30 to $100. Interest on the loans is 6% simple interest which accumulates until after graduation.

Banquet Precedes Basketball Opener

By Rich Dignon

The Block "L" Club's Father-Son Banquet has once more returned to Loyola.

This year it will be held on December 1, preceding the Hound basketball opener with Fordham. In the past, this affair has been a popular one on the Loyola campus, but, for some unknown reason, it was pushed aside. Bob Lister, president of the club, asserts that the banquet and game promise to be one of the outstanding evenings on Loyola's schedule this year.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be the new executive vice-president of the Baltimore Orioles, and currently a candidate for the vacant position of president of the Oriole organization, Frank Cashen. Immediately following the banquet will be the basketball game against Fordham.

The event will be open to all students and their guests, not exclusively Block "L" Club members.

Editorial:

Judiciary Board

The Student-Faculty Court Ordinance will be signed at a formal ceremony in which the President of the college, Father Sellinger, and the President of the Student Council, Bob Diegelman, will take part.

THE GREYHOUND looks with favor and expectation on such a portentous event. A brief history of the ordinance is in order that it be better understood.

In March last year, a bill, co-sponsored by seven Council members was passed by the body. The bill advocated a board of students drawn from the ASO and chaired by the President of Alpha Sigma Nu.

It was supposed to hear cases of disciplinary infractions by students, then recommend to the faculty board a suitable and just corrective. The problems of this type of structure were obvious: it would be hampered by too distant a separation from the actual verdict handed down by the faculty; it would, in effect, violate the principle of double jeopardy; and it could conceivably eliminate any and all influence of the students regarding their own disciplinary problems by the sheer fact that its recommendations could be ignored.

Father Sellinger appraised the bill and acceded to the opposing arguments.

Thus it was that the bill returned to the Student Council unsigned by the president of the college.

The redesigned plan was drawn up and passed by the students' representatives in May; it stipulated that two students would sit as equals with those faculty members already constituting the disciplinary body. The two members would be the Student Council President and the President of the Academy of Student Orientation.

Under this condition a student will appear only once to plead his case, and the merit of that plea will be decided upon not only by the designated faculty members but by his peers as well.

It is hoped that the students will become more conscious of their responsibilities to the community. Ideally, the board will become an all-student court which will conscientiously dispense justice to their fellows.

Such legislation represents a welcome step forward in the sharing of the powers of school administration by the college authorities with the students. Further, such common agreement gives testimony to the fact that proper administration and greater student responsibility can work together in good faith and in an equitable manner.

THE GREYHOUND praises the present Council for the time and effort expended in molding a good idea into a practical proposal. We hope that, in the future, any student in violation of a college rule will feel that he must answer not only to a cold, impersonal Administration, but also to his own fellow students.

Council

Clippings

by Gene Miles and Tom Herwig

The Student Council meeting of November 19, though touched with a few comic incidents, accomplished the serious consideration of several proposals.

The vote on the reapportionment of the Council was taken, and passed by a 9-0 vote, with representatives Mitnick and Weston abstaining. This amendment must now be approved by a two-thirds vote of the student body in the forthcoming elections, and then must be approved by the President of the college.

Joe Ohler made a proposal that a suggestion box be placed outside the Council office for the use of the students. Mr. Weston suggested that the box be made as cheaply as possible.

Mr. Ohler also proposed that the agenda of each Student Council meeting be announced over the public address system before the meetings, in order to encourage larger student attendance. Both of these proposals were passed unanimously.

The Council then turned to the discussion of the forthcoming Conference of Jesuit Colleges, which will be held in February at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The purpose of this conference is to discuss some common campus problems such as drinking and censorship, which face Jesuit colleges. The proposal to send one representative to the conference was approved, pending a talk with the Dean of Studies about the expenses of the trip.

During the break between old business and new, sophomore Tim Keating, a non-member of the Council, asked why the minutes of the meeting of October 15 were still posted on the bulletin board.

Under the new business, senior class president Pete Ruane motioned that a letter be sent to the head of the library asking that silence be maintained at all times. Mr. Ruane complained that the library is becoming a second lounge on the campus. This was passed with the approval of all the Council members.

Though a significant amount of work was accomplished at the meeting, distractions, both small and large, still occurred. Among these was the crinkling of paper, caused by a lunch-eating member, and the subsequent walking out of the reprimanded member. President Diegelman took one step toward future order by ruling that lunches must not be eaten during the meetings. It is to be hoped that the situation will improve still further.

VIEWPOINT

Playboy

On Vietnam

By John Baesch

The State Department, the Defense Department, and various "ad hoc" student organizations have told us that the majority of college students support the President's policy in Vietnam. Now we know for sure. A recent survey conducted by Playboy Magazine shows that 82% of those students surveyed indicated that the United States has an obligation to provide active military assistance to Vietnam.

Furthermore, the survey showed that 88% of the students participating in the survey approved the use of non-lethal gas as a weapon against the Viet Cong. Most significantly, 90% of the students believe that Americans have an obligation to serve in the Armed Forces, even though they happen to be in disagreement with the government's foreign policy.

This should be most comforting to General Hershey and the little old ladies who staff the local Selective Service boards across the country. May we assume the other 10% are either conscientious objectors or are off searching somewhere for adequate quantities of lighter fluid and a match?

With regard to escalation, the students answered this question as follows: if we are unable to effect a negotiated settlement before the end of 1965, should we:

A. Pull out of Vietnam completely? 6%

B. Continue to send aid in dollars only? 3%

C. Confine our military action to South Vietnam only? 35%

D. Push the war into North Vietnam? 56%

A cross section of faculty members was also given the same questionnaire. Their answers were similar, but slightly more conservative.

The Playboy College Opinion survey is based on responses from a representative sample of approximately 1,000 students from all classes, ages, and backgrounds. These students will form a permanent "sounding board on questions of current interest."

It is this writer's opinion that the Playboy Poll is largely confirmatory of what has been reported from colleges all over the country.

The Anti-Vietnam protest movement is not as strong in the country today as it was last spring. In fact, some of the liberal groups who used to support the President are now chiding the Administration for giving the Vietnicks (who, after all, are only expressing their opinions) a bad name. You just can't win.

The Watchdog?!

Each week, gentle readers, the Dog receives many inquiries from our readers for advice and services. This week we intend to print several of the letters:

Dear Dog: One of the major factors in this year's basketball season will be the depth of the team. Is this true? E.G.D.

Dear E.: Yes. And one of the major factors in this year's swimming season will be the depth of the pool.

Dear Dog: How does the Administration keep the enrollment figures so low? H.K.I.

Dear H.: Loyola Nite and Semester Exams.

Dear Dog: I am an ichthyologist. Who can I see about starting a club on campus for people of like interests? F.I.S.H.

Dear F.: Mr. McCormick, but don't forget to write a constitution and get it approved by the Student Council. Sounds like you're in competition with the Oceanographic Club, a recognized student activity.

Dear Dog: Last week I heard Fr. Cavanaugh say, "Life is like an hourglass with the top painted black. You never know when the sand will run out." I don't understand this. What's the moral? J.C.

Dear J.: Lead a good life or use transparent paint.

Dear Dog: I heard a nasty rumor that Fr. King has jumped over the wall. Could this be true? J.A.S.

Dear J.: Look at this recent picture taken in Mexico and judge for yourself.

COACH, NAP DOHERTY

Greyhound Starting Five Boast Speed And Ability

By Dennis Kreiner

Last year, basketball coach Edward Doherty guided the Hound team to an 11-2 Mason-Dixon record. Considering the tough competition of the conference, and the fact that the squad had only two seniors, this was an amazing feat. Let's meet the starting five for Nap Doherty's 1965-66 Greyhound squad, three of whom started in '64.

The Evergreen team of 1966 is steeped in experience and depth. Bob Lister, 6'2" Hound captain, leads the way. Bob, who graduated from Saint John's in Westminster, played in 24 games last year, more than any returnee. He scored 237 points, on a sturdy 9.9 average. Bob has one of the best outside shots on the team. He will start in one of the corners on December 1.

Pat Flynn, who joined the team after mid-semester of last year, brings a lot of jump and a steady outside shot to this year's squad. Pat, who can all but jump out of the gym, carried an 8.8 mean in eight appearances last year and turned in an outstanding performance in the Mount game at the Civic Center.

Although forced to leave after 16 games last winter because of illness, Tom O'Hara returns as team leader in both total points and average. Tom, with 240 points and a 15.0 average, is a threat with his outside shots and his drives. A sure hand on the ball and good speed mark Tom for an inside spot.

Larry Stevenson, a Calvert Hall graduate, adds some real height to the squad. Larry, 6'5", while not a "gunner," will often come up with the important points and rebounds. Loyola's game with Georgetown stands as Larry's most impressive effort of the past year.

Joe Phillip, although not a starter last year, played in 23 games. He will team up with Tom O'Hara in the backcourt where his fine ball-handling ability will be evidenced. As we look again to last year, Joe's outstanding play against the Mount at the Civic Center was a fine example of what might be expected for this one.

When the Rams of Fordham arrive at Evergreen on December 1, they will meet a Hound squad that will play a fast-moving, one-shot brand of basketball. With Tom O'Hara and Joe Phillip as potential "guns" and certain play makers, the Hound front three should find ample opportunity for two-pointers.

Bob Lister's steady outside shot should place him repeatedly in double figures, a distinction which Pat Flynn's sharp moves should also win for him. Couple these with the usual fine performance from Larry Stevenson, and the Greyhounds present an impressive appearance.

Block "L" Club Dinner Tonite

By Gerry Fromm

Tonight the basketball team opens against Fordham in what hopefully will be the start of a successful season. Preceding the game, the Block "L" Club will hold its Father-Son Banquet in the cafeteria, one of the main events in the club's program, featuring a fine menu; Frank Cashen, of the Baltimore Orioles, will be guest speaker.

The Block "L" program for this year got under way with the Halloween Howl. It moves into high gear with the banquet tonight; the parties, dances, and such, which are planned for the remainder of the year, will strengthen the social bonds and emphasize the belief of the club in generating social ties among its members and the student body in general.

Regarding the athletic events themselves, the Block "L" hopes to stimulate the spectators as well as the participants to active support of Loyola's athletic program. The club is currently selling "straw hats," not just as a gimmick, but in an effort to formulate an actual "team" in the stands.

Scrimmage!

Experience And Depth Key To Success In '66

By Dan Whalen & Denny Kreiner

One of the major factors in this year's basketball season will be the depth of the team. It is the secondary men who are counted on many times to provide the winning touch. But these men are far from being secondary in the plans of Coach Nap Doherty.

Among the senior potential starters, Gerry Fromm stands as one of the most likely candidates for a defensive backcourt position. Gerry worked diligently on his shooting weakness over the summer, and returns for his senior year as perhaps the most improved member. His defensive speed and superb ball handling are hard to beat.

Charlie Lawrence, hampered by a car accident last year, is fully recovered and is expected to see a good bit of action this season. Charlie is always an outside threat.

Tom Brown, starting his third year with the Hounds, has developed an outstanding jump shot. His vast knowledge of the game should make him a definite asset this year.

Pete Ruane has consistently improved over the past season. This should definitely increase his chances.

Bill Robustelli is marked by his strong desire and great improvement in all phases of the game.

Bill Devaney improved his game vastly during the latter half of last year and over the summer. The winning basket in the Mount tilt last year gave Bill the confidence he needs to make him a definite asset this season.

Mickey Gardiner, returning USAF vet, is looked upon as one to add strength to the inside. He is definitely in the running for a starting berth.

John Chell, a junior transfer student, should provide good backcourt depth. He has good savvy and experience.

Jack Belz, the biggest man on the squad at 6'6", can be counted on for added rebound power. Jack has looked good in practice, and Coach Doherty's close work with him has helped immensely.

Ed Martel is a good-looking ball handler from Loyola H.S. Ed played for the freshman team last year, and should develop into a good inside shooter.

Dan Popera, a sophomore from the humble ranks of intramural ball, has come on strong this year, and is developing into a good inside shooter.

Cheer Rally This Afternoon

Last Year's Downfall Seen In Tournaments

By John O'Shea

Tournaments were the downfall for last year's Hound cagers.

Although finishing with thirteen wins in twenty-four games, and eleven out of thirteen in Mason-Dixon play, Loyola was winless in three tournament games. Expecting to be definite contenders in the conference tourney, the Greyhounds were ousted by lightly regarded Roanoke College, 81-75, in the first round. The Evergreen squad was practically out of the game by halftime, trailing 38-26.

Ironically, Randolph-Macon College, the eventual tournament champion, had beaten the Hounds, 79-75, earlier in the Fort Eustis Invitational Tournament over the Christmas break. Together with the previous night's 100-80 loss to Elon College, this defeat pinned a last place finish on the Greyhounds in the holiday festival.

Loyola was highly successful, however, in the Mason-Dixon regular games. Only Mt. St. Mary's finished higher in the Northern Division, and a half game was the difference between first and second. Seven of the eleven conference wins came in succession, with the highpoint being an 85-84 overtime win over the Mount at the Civic Center. Strangely enough, this string occurred just after standout guard Tom O'Hara became seriously ill. Pat Flynn's return partially offset this loss, as well as increased team effort and spirit against challenging opposition. Included in the streak were double victories over American University and Johns Hopkins, and single wins against Washington College and Western Maryland.

The Hounds also beat conference foes Old Dominion and Baltimore University, the latter 119-85, earlier in the year. Another victory over Washington College and one against Towson State concluded the regular season. The only two league defeats were to Mt. St. Mary's in Emmitsburg and to Catholic University in Washington.

Loyola began the season with disappointing non-conference losses to Georgetown, Fordham, Seton Hall, and Hofstra. The Greyhounds found their way into the win column against Old Dominion and Rider, but lost the last pre-Christmas game to St. Francis of Brooklyn. Just after the Virginia tourney, the Hounds lost to St. Peter's, but this marked the end of the poor part of Loyola's year.

Student Body to Cast Votes in Fall Elections

By William Weston

Three matters of importance will confront the entire student body at the freshman elections on Friday, December 22, 1965. One issue is an amendment to the Council Constitution; the other two are a plea for a joint appeal with Morgan College to have a bus for Cold Spring Lane, and a plan to have a "Blood for Vietnam" day.

Size of Council

The Student Council, by a vote of 9-0-2, passed a sweeping reapportionment amendment which would increase the size of the Council by the addition of one freshman and one sophomore representative at large. This proposal, the result of many months work by the Reapportionment Committee of the Council, reflects the desire of the Council as a whole to rid itself of an overwhelming upper-class majority. At present, there are eleven upperclassmen and, including the freshmen to be elected next month, five underclassmen--better than a two to one majority.

As with all amendments to the Student Council Constitution, sup-body is needed, as well as the signature of Father Sellinger, in order to make this amendment law. It is hoped that, by presenting this amendment at the freshman elections, the amendment will be able to become law by the next elections. This, of course, is contingent on the signature of Father Sellinger. All the students of Loyola are asked to give this matter their utmost consideration, and to vote accordingly, since this amendment is of vital importance to the effectiveness of the Council.

School Busses

The second matter for the consideration of the student body is a plea from the Student Council of Morgan State College to work together with Loyola and the College of Notre Dame of Maryland in securing a bus to run along Cold Spring Lane. They have requested an accurate estimate of the number of students who would use such a bus. For this reason, the Student Council has printed a form which will also be available the day of the freshman elections to be filled out by all interested students.

It is hoped that, by a concerted effort on the part of these three schools, the perennial problem of transportation on Cold Spring Lane might be solved.

Blood Donors

The last matter concerns a proposal by one of the Council members to have a "Blood for Vietnam" day. The motion, which was passed unanimously, called for a tentative date of January 5, 1966. In conjunction with the Council's recent letter to President Johnson stating the support of the student body for his policy in Vietnam, it is hoped that this action also will show that Loyola students are concerned about the Vietnam situation.

On December 10, the members of the student body who are willing to donate blood will be asked to give their names, after which a permanent date will be established with the Red Cross.

These three matters vitally concern almost all of the student body. The date again for the freshman elections is December 10, 1965, and all members of the student body are asked to participate.

Xavier Lounge Renovated

By Izzie Notsew

Xavier Lounge has changed quite a bit since it was first brought to the campus over thirty years ago. This building was transported to Loyola some time during the early or mid-thirties.

Originally, it was the Sacred Heart Church of Mount Washington; the building was transported to Loyola and became St. Ignatius Loyola Chapel; it remained the chapel until 1950 when the present Student Chapel and Auditorium were completed.

At that time, the building became Xavier Lounge, the name it carried until this year. Xavier Lounge served many purposes on campus, and was a convenient meeting place for small gatherings, job interviews, and the Student Council. It also served as a lounge for the evening school students.

This year Xavier Lounge underwent a $15,000 face-lifting by the Prestige Offices of Baltimore.

An ultra-modern atmosphere was created by recessed lighting, a lowered acoustical ceiling, wall-to-wall carpeting, and simulated wood-grain walls for the cubicles. The name was also changed from Xavier Lounge to Xavier Hall.

The purpose of this renovation was to provide much needed faculty office space in order to provide greater privacy during the frequent student-teacher interviews. In this capacity Xavier Lounge will see many more years of useful service at Loyola.

Liturgy Explained

By Dan Fink

The St. John Berchman's Society will present a program on the recently enacted liturgical changes on Friday, December 10. Mr. John A. Lutts, S.J. will be the featured speaker, and will explain the historic origins of the alterations. The reasons for specific changes will also be discussed. The program will conclude with a question and answer period. It is presently scheduled for 11 a.m. in Maryland Hall, Room 401.

For the Elite Patches

By Ron Frawley

For those on campus who enjoy folk music, the Baltimore area offers five major coffee houses, each with its own particular atmosphere.

The Fifteen Below, in my opinion, presents the best example of the true coffee house spirit. Besides quality entertainment and satisfying refreshments, the Fifteen Below exhibits a relaxed, casual atmosphere, primarily exemplified by the manner of the owners, Patches and Liz. The jokes and poems of Patches, mixed with Liz's vibrant personality and soothing voice, are alone an evening's entertainment.

Patches continues to bring outstanding visitors to his establishment week after week. Bob Sessions (the Deacon), Biff Rose, and "Hoss" are only a few of the personalities who have appeared in recent weeks. This Friday and Saturday, the Beers Family, of Carnegie Hall fame, will be featured. They are one of the few groups who can successfully mingle the traditional arrangements with the new message music.

The Fifteen Below is located at 2020½ York Road. A charge of $1.50 will cover all three shows at 9:30, 10:25, and 12:00. Any additional information can be obtained by calling CL2-9750.

George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" is currently playing at the new Center Stage on North Avenue near Charles Street.

John Schuck plays both Plotinus and the god Ra, who opens the play with a sarcastic commentary on the history of man. The only other Equity actor is William McKereghan, who played Caesar's secretary and advisor, Britannicus.

The new director, Douglas Seale, played the leading role of Caesar himself. While Mr. Seale's performance was inspiring, it seemed that he was more restricted than the other actors. He lacked the flair for comedy which the other characters possessed. Perhaps the reason is that he directed himself, and, consequently, he tried too hard.

Sharon Laughlin, who played Cleopatra, displayed complete competence, developing from youthful naivete to womanish pride, fluidly, and coherently.

The new theater, which employs a bi-level, three-quarter thrust stage, allows for greater variety in staging. A further innovation is a raked stage, i.e., the stage is slightly tilted toward the front of the theater.

Hound Cagers Open Against Fordham Tonite At Home; Swimming And Wrestling With Bisons Mark Weekend

Swimming: By Bob St. Ours

Now that the Loyola swimming team has worked out its off season aches and pains and is beginning to round into shape, the boys are looking forward to the opening meet with Gallaudet College on December 4. Gallaudet, which has not had a strong squad in years, should give coach Tom Murphy the opportunity to test the abilities of the new freshmen, and to adjust his lineup to fill the gaps created due to graduation, ineligibility, and injuries. With both John Prior and co-captain Harry Devlin out of action, the Hound swimmers will rely on rookies Doug Eppler and Joe Moran to handle the backstroke chores. Both have been impressive in the pre-season drills and should provide capable replacement. Bill Bullough, the other co-captain, has been sick and is a doubtful starter. He will probably be replaced by either Mike Behles or Ed Dick in the individual medley and by frosh John Corrigan in the 200 breaststroke. The swimmers have a good one-two punch in the diving event with seniors Paul Palmieri and Rich Morgan. John Kelly joins Ed Rykowski to fill the vacancy in the 200 butterfly.

Thus far, the team shows good strength in the free-style events. Junior Murray Stephens will be counted on in the distance races. Barry Keleher and Mike Maguire are strong in the 100 free. For its depth, the freestyle department will rely on the development of big Don Gladkowski and soph Paul Totoso.

Wrestling: By Jeff Evans

On November 19, the wrestling team met their new coach, Tom Milligan, who in turn greeted them with one of the stiffest workouts yet experienced. Tom has been delayed from joining the team for two weeks because of a nose operation. Nevertheless, Tom has arrived, and is quickly whipping the team into shape.

Tom Milligan is no stranger to Loyola, for the '64 grad served the squad as team co-captain along with Wade Emmet in his senior year. Tom was a star for all four years, three times finishing second in the annual Mason-Dixon Tournament. In the last several years, he has been both a part-time coach at Southern High and a referee.

At present, Tom has accepted the challenge of moulding the willing but inexperienced squad in the fashion of the excellent teams on which he wrestled. He has started in a fine way by initiating some new and grueling practice techniques which will hopefully cut down the injury rate and increase endurance.

The season opens on December 3 and 4 with the Towson State Invitational Tournament. This is expected to be the toughest assignment facing the Hound grapplers. The teams competing are the perennially strong Mason-Dixon teams: Western Maryland, B. U., Old Dominion, and Towson State, plus experienced teams from Shippensburg, Washington and Lee, and the University of Delaware.

WRESTLING—Veteran Jeff Evans and Coach Tom Milligan were caught by our photographer as they demonstrated a referee's position technique.

The Ferns showed their power with their run-away victory over the Runs 26-0. Jack Cuneo has the Fern offense in high gear, and they appear ready to be a top contender for the championship.

The Ferns hung up four touchdowns, all by the left-handed passing of Jack Cuneo. Cuneo hit four different receivers, as diversity has been the keynote of the Fern attack this year.

Tim Martin, Tom Kelley, Henry Stewart, and Dan Hartman all caught scoring passes. Dick Pretl and Tim Martin scored extra points.

Mike Blum continued to lead the junior Lushwells to winning ways, as the Lushwells knocked off the previously unbeaten Wooms 12-0. Blum threw two touchdown passes on the way to victory. The Lushwells, in three games, have not been scored upon.

Dan Popera led the Casey Rejects to a 21-0 victory over the Veneys. Popera threw three touchdown passes, two to John Picciotto and the other to Harry Bruner. Carbra McDonnell scored all three extra points for the winning sophomore team.

The Nads eliminated the Islanders 6-0. The Nad defense was outstanding, as they intercepted five passes. The deciding score of the game came on a Bob Jefferson aerial to Jack Broderick in the endzone. The Nads feel this was the game which got them over the hump, and figure that they will be a top team in the losers' bracket.

The Far Tars beat the Harvey's B'hoys 27-0 for their second win. The Tars intercepted three passes, and returned all three for touchdowns.

John Edgar, Bob Garvey, and Dick Higdon all scored with intercepted passes. Far Tar quarterback Dick Higdon hit Stuart Rochester for another score.

With Higdon at the controls, the Far Tars could rise to the strength of last year, and be a serious contender for the championship.

Muvs Jack Mooney and Rich Karczewski, known in some circles as Mr. and Mrs. America, were seen going over the old Colt plays designed for Joe Don Looney.

The Muvs apparently hoped that these plays would give them an advantage, but Peck Robinson of the B'hoys designed a defense against it which nullifies the Mooney-Looney exclusive.

Leo Zerhusen aims at the mark.

SWIMMING—If the bathing suit is any indication, it would appear that Don Gladkowski has put a Tiger in the tank in a practice round with Ed Dick.

C.U.'s Arty Bell Wins M-D's Hound Hopefuls Romps To 13th

By Tom Wehner

Last Saturday the Hound Crosscountry team traveled to the Mason-Dixon Championship Meet in Bridgewater, Va. The outcome saw victory go to Old Dominion College by one point over American U., 86 to 87. The individual winner was Catholic U's Marty Bell, a lanky veteran of Mason-Dixon campaigns.

Led by freshmen Andy Carter and Steve Rice, Loyola added two schools, Roanoke College and Lynchburg College, to its list of group meet victims, while triumphing again over Mt. St. Mary's and Washington College. The Hound squad compiled a total of 185 to place eighth overall.

Good performances were turned in by sophs John Cosden and Pat Malloy, Loyola's third and fourth men, but illness continued to hamper the team's depth as Tom Wehner finished a disappointing fifth. Mike Malloy rounded out the squad as the Hounds closed the season.

Looking back over the record, the team showed very few spectacular results, but a continuing effort to improve into what could be a great team in future seasons. The book records only wins, losses, and ties; not the efforts of a greatly inexperienced group of runners toward constant improvement, not the breaks that turn victory into defeat, not the desire that kept the team's morale remarkably high in spite of a losing record. Chances are that this year's entire team will return next year, and it is quite possible that then the record book will look better.
